

This person has an Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD)

ASD is diagnosed in 1 of 36 children

Autism is a lifelong neurodevelopmental condition that affects how a person's brain processes information, including information about their environment, like what they see and hear. People with autism may communicate differently and can become confused or distressed in social situations. We appreciate your patience.

Autism & Intellectual Disability Search: aid.actcommunity.ca

A free portal to over 1,700 autism and related resources, sourced internationally and relevant world-wide.

Autism Videos @ ACT: actcommunity.ca/videos

Practical information for parents and professionals featuring community-focused presentations by respected clinicians.

B.C. Community Resources: actcommunity.ca/bcresources

Autism & Diverse Needs Resources specific to British Columbia.
